

HIGHLIGHTS

APRIL 2007

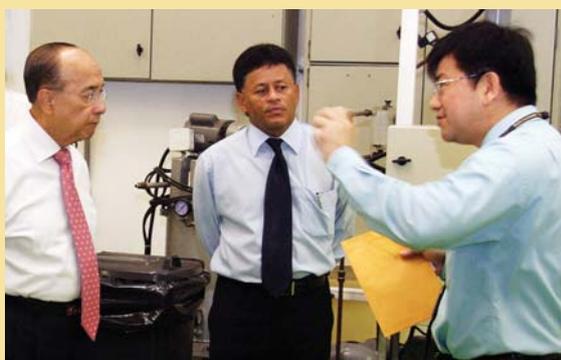

▲ HRH Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn of the Kingdom of Thailand visits Singapore Polytechnic campus, accompanied by her 20-member delegation.

Singapore Polytechnic and its business partners RevoPack and Fountainhead Manufacturing collaborate to make the Singapore Salad Sauce a reality.

Department of Educational and Staff Development launches its first Specialist Diploma in e-Learning Design and Development.

MAY 2007

▲ HE Pehin Dato Abdul Rahman Taib, Minister of Education, Brunei and an eight-member delegation visit Singapore Polytechnic.

▲ Food Innovation and Resource Centre, a one-stop consultancy centre to assist Small and Medium-sized Enterprises (SMEs), is officially opened by Minister of State for Trade and Industry, Mr Lee Yi Shyan.

First batch of 40 SP Scholars receive their scholarships at a presentation ceremony.

JUNE 2007

New Training and Research Centre for Islamic Finance is established by the School of Business and Glohex Groups in association with Singapore Business Federation.

JULY 2007

School of Business organises Retail Carnival 2007 to provide retail management students with the opportunity to work with successful retailers from Bugis Street and to promote retailing as a career of choice among the students.

HIGHLIGHTS

AUGUST 2007

Singapore Polytechnic is chosen as a leading partner for the national Clean Energy Research and Testbedding (CERT) programme.

SEPTEMBER 2007

Mr Tan Hang Cheong is appointed as Principal (Designate) of Singapore Polytechnic. He is to succeed Mr Low Wong Fook from 1 January 2008.

A five-member delegation from the National Colleges of Technology, in Kyushu, Japan pays a visit to discuss collaboration with Singapore Polytechnic.

OCTOBER 2007

Five students from the School of the Built Environment receive the prestigious PUB Scholarship, which aims to groom young talents to support the emerging environmental and water technology sector in Singapore.

School of Electrical and Electronic Engineering launches its 50th Anniversary celebrations at the Singapore Polytechnic Plaza.

To celebrate 50 years as a leading provider of maritime education and training, Singapore Maritime Academy launches a series of initiatives and events culminating with a 50th Anniversary Gala Dinner.

NOVEMBER 2007

For the sixth year running, Singapore Maritime Academy wins the prestigious Lloyd's List Maritime Asia Award 2007 under the Training and Crewing category for its outstanding contribution in the areas of maritime training and education.

Rainbow Rice, the creation of three students from the School of Chemical and Life Sciences beats 21 other products to win the Grand Winner Award at the Food Product Concept Competition organised by the Singapore Food Manufacturers' Association.

HIGHLIGHTS

Singapore Polytechnic students do exceptionally well at the WorldSkills 2007 competition, clinching two golds, a bronze and a Medallion for Excellence.

▲ Singapore Maritime Academy, in partnership with Teledata Marine Solutions, launches an initiative to deliver Certificate of Competency On-line courses on the internet.

Singapore Maritime Academy and Malaysia's Sribima Maritime Training Centre collaborate to launch a safety training centre for the oil and gas industry at the Poly Marina.

DECEMBER 2007

SPICE Travel opens on campus to provide student-related tours and activities.

School of Chemical and Life Sciences teams up with 30-year-old local veteran lap cheong manufacturer, Golden Glory, to produce high-fibre Chinese sausages.

JANUARY 2008

Launch of Romance II Singapore perfume, which was concocted by the School of Chemical and Life Sciences, in BHG departmental stores.

FEBRUARY 2008

▲ New School of Communication, Arts and Social Sciences opens on 1 February 2008.

MARCH 2008

▲ Aerospace graduates from Singapore Polytechnic can look forward to furthering their studies following a tie-up between Singapore Polytechnic, SIM University (UniSIM), Cranfield University (UK), and ST Aerospace to jointly develop teaching and assessment materials and provide facilities for a degree programme in Aerospace Systems Engineering.

School of Electrical and Electronic Engineering delivers 200 wheelchair controllers to Lifeline Corporation Pte Ltd as part of a joint venture.