Is digital transformation relevant to your organization? If you answer “yes” to any of the following questions, this program is relevant to you.

- When you have questions about your business, operations or project performance, do you take time to retrieve information from different sources (departments or personnel) in order to manage your project or write reports?
- Is your data “locked” in some 3rd party system over which you have limited control?
- Is your company heavily reliant on spreadsheets to manage data?
- Do your staff grapple with the impact of uncertainty by relying on experience?
- Does your business suffer from frequent stock-outs and service lags but you don't know how to fix them?
